'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

Tempus has done a lot of fugiting since the first Thanksgiving was observed in America hundreds of years ago.

Those were the days when the staunch old Pilgrim, shouldered his gun and went out into the wilds in search of a wild turkey, being sure to keep clear of hostile Indians.

Picture him wading through the deep snow, his musket—the end looking like an old Ford's Klaxon—ready, his eyes on the alert, watching for a gobbler.

Through the underbrush he hears a crackling—some one is approaching. He darts off to the side of the trail, hiding behind a tree. As he does, five Indians, in war paint, trod by. He breathes a sigh of relief as they pass.

Hours later he sees his bird sitting upon a limb. Slowly he raises his rifle, takes aim and fires. Wham! And the turkey falls to the snow.

"Meat in the pot!" the Pilgrim says as he picks up the gobbler. And then home, trudging through the snowy darkness.

Picture the modern pilgrim in search of a turkey—at a turkey whist party. The only danger he may be threatened with is a "dirty look" from his partner when he plays the wrong card.

And then if he does win a bird he cries because he has to kill, clean and dress it.

Yep, the good old days were the days. However, we are thankful that we didn't live then. If it hadn't been for the Pilgrim and the turkey, and Indians, what would our November issues of magazines do for covers?

GIRL ASKS $170,000 BALM

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26.—UP—
Donald E. Walsh, son of E. M.
Walsh, prominent in San Francisco society, today was charged with breach of promise to marry and battery in a $170,000 damage suit filed here today by 22-year-old Eleanor de Stefano.

Miss de Stefano charged that she met Walsh, a stock broker, in New York, and that he promised to marry her. He refused to carry out his agreement, and, instead, she complained, married Edith Sprackels, said to be a member of the prominent California family.

In addition to breaking his promise to marry her, Walsh on two different occasions beat her in a New York hotel, Miss de Stefano's suit charges. She asked $100,000 for the asserted breach of promise and $35,000 each for the alleged battery counts.

She first met Walsh while she was employed in a railroad office in New York City, she sets forth.
He went out with her frequently, and then proposed marriage on November 23, 1929, she said. The date for the ceremony was set at "on or before May 1, 1930" she asserted.

His refusal to carry out the agreement caused her extreme humiliation and diminished her opportunity for marriage in the future, she claimed.

The alleged beatings took place on December 15, 1929, and April 1, 1930, Miss de Stefano said she suffered injuries about the head and face.

Her suit was filed by Attorney
S. S. Hahn.

Seattle Given Rotary Meeting

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—UP—For the first time in 10 years, a Pacific coast city, Seattle, Wash., will be host to an annual convention of the International Rotary organization, when there in 1932, it was announced today at international headquarters.

Meanwhile plans were being made for the accommodation of more than 2500 North American Rotarians who will attend the 1931 convention at Vienna next June.
Six ships, representing four steamship lines, have been chartered for the eastbound party.

ON VISIT
Friends at Santa Cruz and Ben Lomond were being visited by Mr. and Mrs. C. Fuller of Bissell avenue this week.

Regularity Of Local School Addition Bid In Question LOST FLIERS REPORTED SAFE

D. A. ASKED TO GIVE OPINION

The Richmond school trustees, composed of R. H. Slatery, Homer Patterson, and J. O. Ford, will meet Monday evening and make an award for the construction of the six-room addition to the Woodrow Wilson school.

When the board met yesterday morning, there were seven bidders, but problems of a legal nature, arose in connection with one of the bids, and the matter has been submitted to District Attorney A. B.
Tinning for an opinion, as he is the legal advisor of the board.

The plans and specifications called for the completion of the addition to the school, including Venetian blinds and black boards.

Park Left Out

When the bids had been opened, and before they were read, the contractors were asked if they had included the "blinds and black boards" in their bids, and all gave an affirmative answer with the exception of J. S. Hannah of San Francisco.

The question then arose if Hannah's bid was in regular form, as he had not complied with the plans and specifications and if the board had a legal right to consider it. To settle the matter, the award was laid over until Monday.

There is much interest manifested in the city over the award, and there is a general feeling that the building should be erected by a local contractor, so that local labor would be employed on the work.

A meeting of the Merchants association will be held Friday morning, when the proposed award will be taken up and discussed, and the merchants will likely have a conference with the school board.

Bids Shown

The bids as received by the school board are as follows:
J. S. Hannah..... $24,340
P. M. Sanford..... 26,890
Chas. Vezey & Sons..... 27,085
Tandy & Theis..... 28,560
Carl Overaa..... 28,970
Fred Hoskins..... 29,145
Geo. Maurer Co..... 30,685

Heating Bids

The bids for the heating and ventilating system, which were separate from the general building bid, were as follows:

George A. Schuster..... $3,640
W. H. Pickard..... 3,655
George C. Bell..... 3,768

C. C. PLANS NEW BOOKLET

Publication of a new booklet setting forth the industrial and other advantages of Richmond will be made in the near future by the Richmond Chamber of Commerce, it was announced at the meeting of the directors yesterday.

The booklet will be 16 pages in size and will be printed in two colors. It will be designed to tell the complete story of Richmond, laying stress on the industrial advantages of the community and showing also the desirability of the city as a place in which to live.

Preparation of the booklet will proceed at once under the direction of the publicity committee headed by Fred D. Parr, but publication will be deferred for a short time to make it possible to publish a photograph of the Ford plant with at least the general outlines of the building in place.

The new booklet will replace the one published about two years ago, the supply of which is now exhausted. There will be 10,000 to 15,000 copies and the booklet is planned to provide for chamber of commerce distribution for two years.

BOMB TRIAL MAY BE HELD IN S. F. COURT

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—UP —An attempt will be made to secure trial in local courts for Henry A. Ilse, former Spokane fireman, on a charge of transporting dynamite that was assertedly intended to destroy the Cowles building of Spokane, Wash., where the Spokane Chronicle is published, authorities announced tonight.

The announcement came after police of Spokane, Tacoma and San Francisco had obtained a statement from John Farley, brought here from Tacoma, which they asserted was complete corroboration of the story told to District Attorney Matthew Brady
here Tuesday by Thomas E. Boyle.
Farley and Boyle, according to police, tried to shift major blame for the unsuccessful plot to like who steadily maintained his innocence and hurled charges that he was being "framed."

Brady claimed Boyle had admitted taking a trunk containing the bomb to Seattle, where he met Farley, an old acquaintance, and was advised not to complete the job for which he said he was to receive $250.

The statement by Farley, made public by Captain of detectives Charles Sullivan, was in part:

"I met Boyle at the Bush hotel,
Seattle, at 8:30 p. m. Friday night.
"In the room I saw a trunk which had been open. It contained dynamite, time clock, batteries, etc., and I tried to dissuade him from sending it on to Spokane.
Boyle said: 'I'd like to double-cross this guy.'"

"He went to the door and I broke the terminal on the battery. When Boyle saw it broken he said: 'Thank God it will never explode.'"

Kiwanis Club Hears Address

The Richmond Kiwanis club was addressed at its weekly luncheon yesterday by Abe Leach, well-known Oakland attorney. Leach spoke on the topic, "What I am Thankful For." He stressed the fortune of being a citizen and a resident of California.

The speaker was introduced by Chairman Homer Patterson.
Mrs. Elza Calfee was heard in two vocal solos entitled "Sons of Thanksgiving" and "Frasquita."
The attendance prize was won by Emil Esola, Harry Botger acted as host to the club at Mammy's Place, and a full course
Thanksgiving feast was served.

High School Boys Hears Railroad Man

The boys of Richmond Union High school were addressed yesterday morning by D. R. Cook, Santa Fe apprentice instructor. His topic was "Railroads and What They Mean to the United States." He presented many interesting railroad facts and also spoke on the necessary factors in success in trades and professions. He stated that 25 percent of the coal and oil used in the United States is used by the railroads of the country. He also pointed out that the annual railroad payroll is over three billion dollars.

Principal B. X. Tucker introduced the speaker to the boys of the school.
Following the talk, a meeting of the entire school was called, and Darrow Sutton at this meeting read a list of the amendments to be voted on by the student body of the school at an election next week. President Harry Tansue presided during the meeting.

FAVERO HERE

I. A. Favero, of 943 Thirty-second street, is home for the Thanksgiving week. He is at present employed with the Sander Oil company at Kettleman Hills.

PRETTY MITZI GREEN, Paramount juvenile motion picture star, admitted on questioning that she didn't really intend to whack off the head of the sad-looking bird appearing with her. It's our guess, though, that Mr. Turk doesn't escape gracing somebody's table on Thanksgiving Day.

All Richmond Will Fete Thanksgiving

Three hundred and nine years ago today Pilgrim fathers gathered with their families and friends to give thanks to the Almighty and enjoy the fruits of their first year's labor on the New England shores.
Today all Richmond turns again to that day as they join in observing the event which has become a national holiday.

The custom instituted by the Pilgrims was observed each year until it became a national institution by proclamation of George Washington.

Roman Catholics and Protestants alike will join in their respective services today to give praise for the year's blessings. Schools will remain closed. City offices will not be open, while employees of banks and other similar businesses will join in the day's observance.

Families and friends were gathering in many Richmond homes last night in preparation for dinners which were being prepared for tomorrow. Entertainments of various kinds were being arranged by hosts and hostesses.

Arrangements had been made by social agencies in this city for the aiding of families and individuals in want. American Red Cross and the Salvation Army were among the chief contributors to the need.

Church Services
Protestant churches of the city will unite in a joint service at Wesley Methodist church with the Rev. Kenneth B. Wallace of First Baptist church selected to lead the devotional.

Roman Catholics will gather at St. Mark's church at nine o'clock under direction of Father Michael Croty, while Christian Scientists will meet in Richmond clubhouse at 11 a. m. for special services.

Trinity Lutheran church will hold a special service at 10 a. m. in charge of the Rev. A. W. Koehler.

Lindemann To Preside
At the united Protestant meeting which is to begin at 10:30
a. m. music will be furnished by the Wesley choir and Orpheus Trio.
Marvi Rish will lead the singing while the Rev. G. G. Lindemann will preside. Miss Ruby Williams will be the pianist.

In El Cerrito St. John's Catholic church will celebrate a special mess at 8:30 a. m. with the Father Conrad conducting. Fr. S. Pado, parish priest of St. Paul's church,

Record-Herald Employees To Have Holiday

Members of the RECORD-HERALD staff will enjoy a vacation today, in observance of Thanksgiving.

This will be the last issue of this newspaper until Saturday morning. All of the holiday news, along with the latest in national and local news will be presented in the Saturday morning paper.

Every department of this paper will be closed today, including the business, editorial offices and the me-

QUAKE DEATH TOLL GROWS

TOKIO, Japan, Nov. 26.—UP—
The death toll in the severe earthquake which shook a wide area in the beautiful Izu peninsula south of here early today mounted slowly as relief workers rushed supplies into the stricken zone.

The dead had reached 223 by mid-afternoon. Of these, 187 were killed in Shizuoka Prefecture, which includes the whole of Izu peninsula and extends in horseshoe shape around the main land of central Japan, center of the disturbance.

The picturesque resort district of the Izu peninsula was badly shaken by the temblors, which spread destruction along the Pacific sea-coast for nearly 100 miles. Several mountain sections were damaged.
Airplanes were used to aid in carrying supplies to the destitute.

A representative was dispatched to compile a report for Emperor Hirohito. The emperor will make a cash donation to the quake sufferers, it was announced.

The government, well equipped to handle situations such as the one now faced in the quake zone, directed the relief work. The Japanese Red Cross assisted.

ON VISIT
Thanksgiving day will be spent by Miss Marguerite Knoble, principal of Harding school, with relatives in Martinez. Miss Knoble resides at the Hotel Carquinez.

NELSON C. BOWLES and his stenographer, Miss Irma Loucks, shown in inset be-

$50,000 Asked In Automobile Crash

MARTINEZ, Nov. 26.—Damages of $50,000 were asked by Mrs. Katie
J. Sutliff and her four children from R. Redmond for injuries allegedly suffered when struck by a car driven by the latter.

The accident was said to have happened at the intersection of San Pablo and Maricopa avenue, Richmond. It is alleged in the complaint that Redmond drove his automobile in a negligent manner.

Children along with Mrs. Sutliff named in the complaint were Mrs.
Ethel Wheeler, Clarence Sutliff,
Marion Sutliff and Ralph Sutliff.

Will Robinson and Francis J.
Healey are attorneys for the plaintiffs.

Fire Destroys Shack In Annex

A three room shack, owned by Steve Yopoff at the foot of Van Pelt avenue, was destroyed by fire last night. Damage is estimated at $200.

TWO FELONS, GUARD ARE WOUNDED

HUNTSVILLE, Tex., Nov. 26.—
UP—Two convicts were killed and a guard and two other prisoners were wounded in a gun battle on a highway near the state prison here late today.

The convicts were members of a squad employed on a road near the prison.

The prisoners made a dash for liberty.

The break was frustrated by three guards, assisted by trustees.
There were 27 men in the convict squad. The two dead, two wounded and 33 others were rushed inside the prison walls in a truck. None escaped.

The dead:
Tony Corona, alias Carl Blackburn, two-timer from Houston.

Wheeler McCully, convict.
The wounded:
F. O. Ross, guard, shot in abdomen.

Tom Shook, convict, former chief of police at Electra, serving a term for murder, was probably fatally wounded.

Tim Tully, convict.
The attempted break occurred as the convicts were being returned to the prison.

The men were riding in the body of a truck with two armed guards posted on each rear fender. A third guard was in a pursuing car.

The four guards were attacked simultaneously by two of the convicts as the truck sped along the road toward the prison.

Only the four convicts who were killed or wounded took an active part in the attack on the guards.

LOCAL SCOTS INSTALL HEADS

St. Andrews Society of Richmond installed officers recently elected at a business meeting last night after which wives of the members surprised the gathering when they appeared bearing edibles for a banquet.

The ladies surprise group was headed by Mrs. William Urquhart.
At the fete which followed, George Smith was honored as the incoming president, as was the corps of officers installed with him. Invitation was extended at the meeting to the Richmond group to attend St. Andrews Day observances in Oakland and San Francisco.

San Francisco society will hold its dinner and celebration in Palace Hotel Dec. 3 while the Oakland society will meet in Hotel Oakland Dec. 5 for their entertainment.

A large gathering of members was present at the meeting which installed the officers. Peter Mac Callum the retiring president directed the meeting.

Officers installed were George George Smith, president; William Patterson, vice president; George Black, treasurer; James Stuart, secretary; Peter MacCallum, chaplain; Dr. L. H. Waser, physician; Stuart Lundy, librarian; William
Dough, chairman of refreshments;
W. J. MacDonald, trustee.

Rotary To Hear Talk At Meeting

Building and loan activity presented in a new way will be given Richmond Rotary when they meet Friday under the chairmanship of George Chambers.

Chambers will be both chairman and speaker of the meeting.
A violin solo will be given by Mrs. Chambers who is well known for her ability in that respect.
Marshall Paxton has made arrangements for the day.

Theater Bids To Be Opened Soon

The bids for reconstruction of the Fox-Columbia Theater interior are expected to vary between $50,000 and $70,000 when they are submitted, probably next week. No definite figures have yet been given out. The opening of bids was announced from the offices of the department and the El Cerrito department responded to the alarm.
The fire is believed to have started from a cigarette.

50,000 WILL SEE GAELS PLAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—UP—There were rain clouds over the city tonight, but for the first time this season, they failed to worry football fans because a downpour would probably make the game between University of Oregon and St. Mary's Thursday morning more interesting.

Both teams have become accustomed to a muddy gridiron. St. Mary's in its victory over Fordham at New York and Oregon on its home gridiron in the northwest, where rains start early in the winter.

The Saints have been favored but on a slippery field the heavy Oregon line has a good chance to overcome these odds to make the encounter close and exciting.

The Webfeet arrived here today and went through a light workout. They were all in good condition and this was cheering news because it means San Franciscans will have their first opportunity to see Johnny Kitzmiller the star Oregon half-back in action.

Oregon was beaten by St. Mary's here last Thanksgiving Day, but Kitzmiller could not play on account of injuries.

There is a possibility the "Galloping Gaels" will be overconfident. After their sensational second half comeback against Fordham, they were given one of the greatest celebrations in the history of San Francisco when they returned here.

Unless it rains hard at game time, more than 50,000 persons are expected to be in Kezar stadium to see the battle.

French Biamed In Soviet Plot

MOSCOW, Nov. 26.—UP—The bizarre treason trial of eight prominent engineers, apparently resigned to their fate and welcoming death, proceeded today with further charges that they sought the aid of France and Great Britain in a war of intervention against Russia.

Victor Larichev, former member of the state planning commission, second to testify, stood before the microphone in the brightly lighted old ballroom used for a court, and substantiated the charges made against France and England by Prof. Leonard Ramzin, who opened the testimony of the prisoners yesterday.

Like Ramzin, he ended his confession without asking mercy. He described himself as treasurer of the purported conspiracy through whose hands he aid, millions of rubles had passed in the last five years.

Tiajuana Marriages Are Held 'Void'

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26.—UP—The hasty marriages of young American couples who elope to Tiajuana without regard to Mexican laws are absolutely void, Superior Judge Thomas Gould ruled today.

He expressed his opinion in annulling the alleged marriage of Roger M. Coe to Margaret H. Coe. The ceremony occurred at Tiajuana, Mexico on Sept. 13, 1929.

In petitioning for annulment, Young Coe was supported by the testimony of C. Gaxiola Andrade, for ten years justice of the Supreme court of the state of Sinaloa, Mexico, and later governor of that state.

Andrade told the court that under the laws of the state of Baja (Lower) California in which Tiajuana is located, parties contracting marriage must have been residents of the territory for at least six months previous to the ceremony.

NO GAMES IN CITY CAGE LEAGUE

There will be no city basketball games this evening because of the Thanksgiving holidays.

The next league competition will occur on Monday night, when the Studebakers and Odd Fellows take place in the A division and the Martercraft Roofers and Garfinkel Clothiers meet in the B division.

Monday's A division game is of special significance, as the winner of this contest will go into a tie with Santa Fe for first place in the A division of the league. The Odd Fellows, although a fine smoothly working outfit, will have a battle for this position when they meet the Studebakers.

The B division clash should provide a pretty basketball exhibition as the Garfinkel boys have played sensational ball to rise to the top of the B division and the Roofers are a hard-working aggregation.

Munition Orders To Educate U. S. Factories Asked

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—UP—A program of "educational" munition orders for private factories was recommended today in the final report of General Charles F. Summerall, retired army chief of staff. He expressed the opinion that present appropriations for the army were inadequate.

Summerall retired last Thursday. He was succeeded by General Douglas MacArthur. The retired chief's report covered the year ending November 20, 1930.

The report was made as American delegates at Geneva are working on a draft convention to limit arms. It followed by only a few days the submission of a petition signed by several hundred leading Americans asking President Hoover to seek senate action on this country's adherence to the world court.

Cubans Accept Root Protocol

GENEVA, Nov. 26.—Cuba notified the League of Nations today that it accepted the root protocol making possible adherence of the United States to the World Court. Withdrawal of Cuba's objection removes the final barrier to American entry to the court.

Guillermo De Blonck, the Cuban representative, said Cuba would ratify at once the revised statute of the World Court, thereby automatically withdrawing the single handed opposition of Cuba to the project.

Father Shoots Wife, Kills Self

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26.—UP—After locking three of his children in another room, Joseph Muskitis, 60 shot and wounded his wife today and then committed suicide.

Despondency because ill health had kept him from working at his carpenter trade during the last year was believed the cause for his act. The wife, Mrs. Minnie Muskitis, was cooking breakfast when her husband suddenly appeared, wounding her in the arm and back. She will recover.

Gold Cup To Be Presented Lipton

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—UP—Cup to be presented Sir Thomas Lipton by admiring Americans here in the city hall Dec. 4 will be made of gold with a silver base.

So much money poured into the office after an appeal was made to give the sportsman a cup for his valiant efforts to win the American cup that it was decided to make the symbol of gold. Silver for the cup's base will be presented by the state of Utah.

Sweets Produced By Desert Cacti

COOLIDGE, Ariz.—The giant Sahuaro and organ pipe cacti and the smaller organ pipe or pitahaya cactus of Arizona produce good crops of delicious fruits used for centuries by Indians for sirups, conserves and dried food. They bear fruit even after three years of extreme drought.

Unusual Picture

TWO WEST TEXAS armadillos—which ordinarily are never seen till dusk or night time—photographed during the day. These peculiar beasts won't eat anything on top of the ground—they always dig for dinner. Their young are born in April—always four in number and always of one sex.

House Peters Is Acquitted Jury Hung On Officer's Trial

BEVERLY HILLS, Nov. 26.—UP—House Peters, whose he-man acting on the screen once made audiences say "Ah!" was acquitted today of throwing rocks at the house of a neighbor.

Peters almost was found guilty of frightening little children by racously shouting, "Shut up, you little brats," but the count was dismissed.

On Oct. 31, W. H. Simon held a party for children at his home, adjoining that of Peters. Peters told them there was too much noise.

A couple of nights later, Simon held another party, and rocks were thrown at his house.

Peters denied today that he had done the throwing. He was acquitted. The jury stood 10 to 2 for conviction of frightening the children when he shouted "Shut up, you little brats."

But Peters and Simon shook hands and the case was dismissed by Justice of the Peace H. E. "Josh" Billings.

Bow Aid Will Face Court Soon

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26.—UP—Daisy Devore, discharged secretary to Clara Bow, was arraigned in superior court today on an indictment charging 37 counts of grand theft from Miss Bow and obtained an extension of time in which to enter plea.

Judge Wood set Monday as the date of plea. The indictment charges that Miss Devore took sums totaling $16,500 between September 15 and October 29 of this year, shortly before being dismissed by the screen actress.

Later in the day, District Attorney Buron Pitts filed an answer to the suit in which Miss Devore seeks the return of certain articles she claims were taken from her by investigators for Pitts.

DARTMOUTH TO START BEST ELEVEN

PALO ALTO, Nov. 26.—UP—The best backfield combination of Dartmouth and Stanford will be in the starting lineup of the important intercollegiate contest here Saturday, it was learned tonight.

Coach Jackson Cannon of Dartmouth had already committed himself to such an attitude, although reserving the right to change his decision before game time if he desired. He made it clear that he does not regard lightly the Stanford team that beat California last Saturday 41 to 0.

Lartmouth, however, is undefeated, while Stanford bowed to University of Southern California by a score of 41 to 12.

Not to be outdone by Coach Cannell before the game, Coach "Pop" Warner of the Cardinals announced tonight that he would start his "best eleven." This started a guessing contest among those who have watched Stanford in every game this year and not been able to determine exactly which backfield men were looked upon by Warner as his most efficient.

An apparent majority was voting for Harlow Rottert to be at fullback, Phil Moffatt and Ernie Caddell to be in half back positions, and Harry Hillman to hold down the quarterback's job.

Dartmouth's starting backfield will probably be Earl Motron, quarterback, Shep Wolff and Bill McCall, halves and Bob Wilkins, fullback.

Girl Brutally Attacked By Pair

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26.—UP—Ruth Meserole, 17, Los Angeles, was brutally attacked by two bandits early today when she was forcibly taken from her companion, H. W. Lawson, son of a wealthy manufacturer, as the couple were parked in a secluded spot. The bandits, Lawson reported, robbed him of $3 and drove off with Miss Meserole, describing the hysterical girl and the automobile several times away, where passersby found her.

Yanks In London To Have Turkey

LONDON, Nov. 26.—UP—Americans in England will observe Thanksgiving Day in the traditional manner.

At the Savoy Hotel 450 Americans and their guests will attend a banquet and ball Thursday night, under the auspices of the American Society of London. The Prince of Wales will be the guest of honor. Lady Astor, a Virginian by birth, will propose the toast. Ambassador Dawes will be chief guest of the American colony.

Youth In Suit To Break Father's Will

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—UP—Undue influence was used to cause his father to cut him off with one dollar, Robert W. Tobin, 22, of this city charges in a suit brought in an effort to break the $100,000 of his parent William Tobin, deceased contractor. Tobin charges Mrs. Lillian Titherly of 237 Lexington avenue with responsibility of having used undue influence in cutting him off with the minimum.

Mrs. Irene Tobin, mother of the man, divorced from her husband 14 years ago is backing her son in the suit.

Concord Five In Win Over Odd Fellows

The Richmond Odd Fellows' second string quintet last night went down before the Concord Odd Fellows by a score of 24 to 15.

The contest was a rather hilarious affair, both teams displaying a brand of basketball more humorous than scientific. However, the game finally developed into a real battle, the Richmond boys giving the invaders from Concord a fast race for victory.

Daily did the most consistent shooting for Richmond, collecting a 10 point total. Sorenson gained high point honors for Concord with a total of 14 credits.

The second team for the Richmond Odd Fellows included: Tandy, 3, Yeatts 0, Daly 10, forwards, Housman, center; Resala 2, Nelson, Booth, guards.

The Concord Odd Fellows were: Sorenson 14, Beranson 6, forwards Cooper 3, center; Humphrey, Heidecker 1, guards.

Co-eds Pelted In Water Fight

BERKELEY, Nov. 26.—A water fight engaged in by members of Pi Alpha Epsilon fraternity at the University of California and witnessed by girls of Theta Upsilon sorority was funny until the boys started to throw bags filled with liquid at the female spectators.

One of the girls went running for a policeman who immediately ordered the cessation of hostilities which had increased considerably between the time the runner had gone for an officer and the time he arrived.

Apology from the vice president of the house and work of picking up numerous paper bags by members of the fraternity settled the matter satisfactorily for all concerned.

Love Slayer Is Denied Freedom

OLYMPIA, Wash., Nov. 26.—UP—Ruth Garrison, who in 1919 killed the wife of the man she loved, by poisoning, Mrs. George Storres, was denied her freedom today.

The Washington supreme court declared that Miss Garrison was not entitled to seek freedom from the state penitentiary by a writ of habeas corpus.

Miss Garrison, had not the state supreme court taken its action today, would have been liberated by Judge A. W. Hawkins, sitting in Walla Walla.

Miss Garrison's one chance for freedom is under the 1907 legislative act, it was said. In that case, the girl would have to make her appeal in King county superior court, and how her mental condition has improved since her imprisonment 11 years ago.

HUNTERS FLOCK TO NORTH FOR GAME

DUTCH HARBOR, Alaska, Nov. 26.—UP—With the departure of fishermen from northern waters the major activity in the Aleutian islands from now until next spring will be the gathering of fox hides that will eventually appear as coats, collars, trimming and chokers in the states.

Fox hunters are going out to their islands to spend their lonely winter setting traps, skinning animals, curing hides, and living on fish, smoked meat and canned goods. Selkum does more than one hunter go to an island, and their lives are almost like those of castaways. No boats call; they have no contact with the outside world until the warmth of spring heralds the return of fishing fleets from the south and of commercial boats to collect the winter's catch of blue fox fur.

Many of the native hunters live almost entirely on raw fish. Gathering of driftwood becomes an arduous task on the rocky islands. Others take a six months supply of food with them when they start for their islands. Native Aleutians who live alone and make raw fish their chief diet age quickly after 30.

A catch of 1000 fox furs is considered a good winter's work for one man. Hunters lease the island, then sell the hides to the owner for $10 each. In addition, they are furnished a arristake, and all money obtained from the sale of the hides is clear profit.

Small boats take hunters to the various islands, then return here for the winter, leaving the lone hunters to exist as they may. Sickness is the worst danger facing the fox hunters, who have no opportunity to obtain medical attention for four or five months.

Lindy Named On Social Register

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—UP—Several well known New Yorkers found themselves dropped from the social register today because of marriages which it frowned upon.

The 1931 edition of the little book omitted William J. Willock Jr., young scion of a wealthy Syassett, L. I. family, who married a chambermaid.

Eleanor H. Hutton, daughter of the Edward H. Huttons, who married Preston Sturges, young playwright, also was banished. A third name omitted was that of Dr. Joseph A. Blake, noted surgeon, who married a nurse after he had been divorced from the former wife of Clarence Mackay.

Gene Tunney, who appeared once in the register but after his marriage with the former Polly Lauder, has been out of the list since.

The register recognized Col. Charles A. Lindbergh after he married, and has kept him on the roster.

Custom Officers Quit In Probe

DETROIT, Nov. 26.—Under fire in a sweeping investigation of asserted grafting practices in the customs patrol ranks here, 21 members of the patrol have submitted resignations in the last five weeks, it was learned today.

In addition, six men were held in the county jail today, and it was understood they would be brought before the federal grand jury to testify. Federal authorities refused to say who the men were, and if they were border patrolmen. No one was allowed to talk to them.

Child Welfare Meeting Closed At Washington

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—UP—A new bill of rights for children facing growing complexities of an industrial nation was handed American parents by the White House conference on Child Health and protection.

Three thousand child specialists of the conference returned to their communities to begin a program of child education and training outlined after a year of study and a three-day summary here. This program also was reported to President Hoover who summoned the congress.

The conference ended today with the defining of a new standard of living for the American child. This was transmitted to the American home by Secretary of Interior Wilbur, conference chief, by a national radio network.

The conference predicted its statement of "minimum standards every child should have" on basic health care of mother and child and the joint responsibility of parent and community training, adding:

"The schools should discover special abilities of each child, for children like men, succeed by the use of their strongest qualities and special interests."

"Every child should have some form of religious, moral and character training. Every child should be protected against labor that stunts growth, that limits education, that deprives children of the right of comradeship, joy and play."

"The extension of child services in the community should supplement and not supplant parents."

Chief concern of the conference as a whole was adaptation of the American child to the machine age in his development, so that he would not emerge a misfit. It also stressed the "expert study of blind, deaf, crippled and handicapped" to equip them as assets instead of debits to the nation.

This job was given definitely to the co-work through "public conscience and action," of the community and parents and not as a governmental task.

"Nobody should get the idea that Uncle Sam is going to rock the baby to sleep," while parents are more the task, Secretary Wilbur warned.

In this light, the section on education reported:

"It must be recognized that if America is to pass safely through the experience of democracy, the people must be ready to make adjustments" in child training.

Snow, Blizzards Hold East On Thanksgiving

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—UP—Stinging cold settled down upon the nation this Thanksgiving eve. Temperatures near the zero mark were expected to prevail in the middle west before the turkey carving hour tomorrow. In the eastern half of the country blustery winds and snow brought cold not quiet so severe. From the Mississippi almost to the Rocky Mountains the cold wave wedged itself in more securely, bringing intense suffering to the poor.

One dozen persons were killed in the northwest, yesterday and today, either frozen to death or injured fatally in accidents caused by blinding snow, ice streets or strong gales.

The weather bureau predicted that temperatures of five degrees above zero would prevail in the Chicago area before morning. Below zero temperatures were recorded in the Dakotas and Minnesota. It was eight degrees below zero at Devils Lake, N. D., and two below at St. Paul, Minn.

In Cleveland and northern Ohio, a blizzard continued to rage after having dumped six inches of snow in Cleveland and surrounding country.

P. T. A. GROUP HEARS TALK ON THRIFT

The P. T. A. Council was yesterday afternoon addressed by Mrs. L. K. Beever, state P. T. A. Thrift chairman. Mrs. Beever spoke of the budget system, children's savings, and also on the living Christmas program. She urged that everyone buy trees marked with the label "Cut for good of forest service."

Reports were given at yesterday's meeting by the chairman of the various committees of the council. Mrs. Bertha Pedrotti presided during the meeting, which was held at Lincoln school.

ZEPHYR LODGE WILL ELECT NEW OFFICERS

LAUGH COSTS MAN'S LIFE

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—UP—E. Russell Thompson, 28, prominent young broker and heir to millions, was shot and killed early today when he laughed at four youthful bandits who robbed a suburban roadhouse.

Frank Engle, proprietor of the roadhouse and friend of Thompson said the broker had just entered the place when the bandits filed in through a side door.

Thompson laughed in the apparent belief that the robbery was a joke, and was shot in the head with a shotgun.

Thompson was the son of Charles E. Thompson, wealthy associate of Samuel Insull, vice-president of the Chicago Rapid Transit lines and of the Chicago North Shore and Milwaukee railroad.

Without a second glance at their victim, the bandits ordered Engle to open the safe, took $125 and fled.

Richmond Hotel Owner Is Called

W. M. Duncan, 59, of Lemoore, Kings county, died on Tuesday morning, according to a report received here.

Duncan came here in 1904 and built one of the first hotels, the Rebel, at Point Richmond. He resided here until about ten years ago when he moved after his wife's death. He was residing with a sister, Mrs. J. W. Harris when death came.

He leaves a sister and several step-children, including Mrs. L. A. Favero of Richmond.

Stool Pigeon Tells Of Police Frame-up Of Women

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—UP—The "acrobatic stool pigeon" of the vice squad who earned his sobriquet by agility displayed in fire escape exits during raids, testified today in an investigation of lower courts that in three days of public hearings has uncovered a shocking carnival of corruption.

The informer was "Chico" Matucha Acuna, 31, a Chilean who came to this country 10 years ago in search of adventure and found it in "framing" women, many of whom he said blandly on the witness stand, were entirely innocent.

Thus to the accusations already plying from the equipment, alleging involving the integrity of a magazine that Borel signed an agreement, lawyer and bondsmen were with the General Petroleum added sensational charges reuniting company arranging that this consent of conditions exposed in the pany was the to install his equipment 1913 inquiry that followed the ment and that he was to sell their products until 1935.

THE INFORMER IS ASKING THAT BOREL BE PREVENTED FROM SELLING HIS EQUIPMENT INSTALLED IN HIS STATION, OR GASOLINE OF ANY OTHER OIL COMPANY.

MARTINEZ, Nov. 26.—A. Borel, Richmond service station operator, was named as defendant in a suit filed today in the superior court here by the General Petroleum company.

The plaintiff is asking that Borel be prevented from selling his equipment installed in his station, or gasoline of any other oil company.

Workers Are Reported To Be Starving

MOSCOW, Nov. 26.—UP—The right to choose and to change jobs has been practically taken away from workers in the Soviet Union by recent official regulations and unofficial forms of coercion.

Technically the worker's permanent attachment to his job and his acceptance of employment are voluntary. Failure to comply with orders is being made nearly impossible except at the price of starvation.

The Communist regime has been obliged to take harsh measures limiting the freedom of movement of the working class in order to carry out its task of speedily industrializing the country.

The industrial program involved in the accelerated 5-year plan requires not only enormous labor forces but their control under almost military methods. The government must be able to shift great armies of working men and women where they are most needed.

Hundreds of thousands of factory, mine and other workers have signed formal pledges to remain at their working posts until the completion of the 5-year plan. Theoretically voluntary, these pledges are not easy to withhold.

Those who refuse to sign open themselves to accusations of "economic desertion" and even "treachery."

A recent manifesto of the central committee of the Communist party provides for harsh punishment of six months' exclusion from industry for persons changing their jobs too often or violating their pledges.

The same manifesto announces other measures similarly intended to attach workers to their present jobs and to enable the government to shift the labor forces very much as a general staff shifts its fighting forces. The entire manifesto, in fact, taken a frankly militant tone in calling for the "mobilization" of forces and their utilization on the "fighting fronts" of the 5-year plan.

JR. HIGH CLUB PRESENTS PLAY

The Musical Skit club of Long-fellow Junior High school yesterday morning presented a two-act play entitled "The Indian Princess" before a meeting of the student body of the school. Mrs. Ann Johnson directed the production, which dealt with the story of Captain John Smith and Pocahontas.

The members of the cast were: John Smith, Elton Brombacher; Pocahontas, Dorothy Bergen; Englishmen, Naomi Brown and Adeline Winters; Captain Jerry, Peggy Krumdieck; sailors, Ruth Winter, Ardine Soward, Annie Russell, Larome Zindel; Powhatan, George Dueselicker; Pocahontas, the princess, Ramona Jones; Indian maids, Martha Baldwin, Margaret Casey; squaws, Geraldine Newman, Helen Creeley; Indian Braves, Jaret Green, Lucille Dodge, Ina Corrigan, Theresa Chesio; Indian scout, Anita Bravin.

Living Yule Tree Program Gains Support

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—All California is preparing to light her outdoor Christmas trees, according to messages pouring into the State Headquarters for the Outdoor Christmas Tree association of California at 402 Monarch building here.

Charles F. Pratt, organizer and president of the association, announces that the slogan "An Outdoor Christmas Tree for Every California Home" is being broadcast throughout the state with all results, and that not only individuals are joining in the movement but scores of cities and towns are making plans for "Christmas Tree Streets" or a mile of living Christmas trees on the highway.

The 1930 movement will be formally launched at a big luncheon rally on Tuesday, Dec. 2, in the Palace Hotel, San Francisco, attended by several hundred representatives of women's clubs, chambers of commerce, forest and conservation bodies, service clubs and park commissions from all parts of California.

Governor Young, Governor-Elect Rolph, John McLaren, Mrs. Luther Burbank and other notables who have taken an active part in the outdoor Christmas tree movement in California during the past three years, have been invited to speak at the affair. Pratt will preside.

Last year nearly 50,000 living outdoor Christmas trees were illuminated in California, according to an estimate given out by the association, and it is expected that a great many more will grace the yards and highways this year.

The officers and directors of the Outdoor Christmas Tree association of California are: R. D. Brigham, Mrs. Edmund N. Brown, Wm. Wendell, Mrs. Luther Burbank, A. E. Condict, Arthur S. Crites, R. W. ## Cavalry Shows Big Decrease, Report Says

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—UP—Those gallant armed horsemen who are pictured so romantically in the nation's history are showing fewer years of years, the annual report of Maj. Gen. Guy V. Henry, chief of Army cavalry, revealed today.

Whereas, America's cavalry strength in 1920 was 20,000 enlisted men, the present actual recruiting strength is only 7,974, the report said. This represents a reduction of 58 percent in a decade.

Most of the Army's cavalry now is stationed in the midwest and on the Mexican border where Henry said, it is being maintained in a "very high state of efficiency."

Training in riding and improved care of animals have shown results in a number of marches where a rate of seven miles per hour has been maintained for 40 miles.

Meanwhile, steeds of steel are coming to reinforce horses in modern cavalry organizations. During the last fiscal year the War Department has approved expenditure of $20,000 for experiments to find a satisfactory type of armored car for the cavalry.

All of the cars carry machine-guns, or machine rifles for use against aircraft in addition to their principal batteries.

Canal Traffic Shows Slump, Report Says

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—UP—A slight decrease in traffic passing through the Panama Canal in the fiscal year 1930 as compared with 1929 was reported to Secretary of War Hurley today by Governor H. Burgess of the Canal Zone.

During the last year 6185 ocean-going vessels transited the canal, as compared with 6413 in 1929. Tolls amounted to $27,076,390.01 as compared with $27,127,376.91 in the previous year, the report showed.

Despite the decrease in traffic this year under 1929, it was greater than in 1928, save for the number of ships passing through and greater, even in that respect, than in any year before 1928, the report said.

Burgess said he did not regard the slight drop in traffic as a sufficient reason to stop work on the new Madden dam, which will provide more water for use in Gatun lake, and that construction had continued.

Wheat Predicted Less This Year

ST. PAUL, Nov. 26.—UP—Wheat production in the Northwest was estimated as 20,000,000 bushels below the 1929 crop in the report of the Farmers Union Terminal association.

The 1930 movement will be formally launched at a big luncheon rally on Tuesday, Dec. 2, in the Palace Hotel, San Francisco, attended by several hundred representatives of women's clubs, chambers of commerce, forest and conservation bodies, service clubs and park commissions from all parts of California.

Governor Young, Governor-Elect Rolph, John McLaren, Mrs. Luther Burbank and other notables who have taken an active part in the outdoor Christmas tree movement in California during the past three years, have been invited to speak at the affair. Pratt will preside.

Last year nearly 50,000 living outdoor Christmas trees were illuminated in California, according to an estimate given out by the association, and it is expected that a great many more will grace the yards and highways this year.

The officers and directors of the Outdoor Christmas Tree association of California are: R. D. Brigham, Mrs. Edmund N. Brown, Wm. Wendell, Mrs. Luther Burbank, A. E. Condict, Arthur S. Crites, R. W. Dayton, Tom Deering, Mrs. D. E. Dayton, Guy Fleming, Mrs. Jean Scott Frickleton, Mrs. Lester J. Hunsdale, W. I. Hutchinson, W. P. Isham, Vierling Kersey, E. I. Kotok, Charles Kellogg, Mrs. Parker S. ## MADAM SATAN TO BE SHOWN AT FOX

Is Cecil B. DeMille a good judge of "feminine beauty"?
Fox-California theater-goers will have an opportunity to judge this when the producer-director's new M-G-M picture, "Madam Satan," will open at the Fox-California today.

For a "Beauty Abandon" is the means by which the actress of the 30's, Miss Lillian Roth, at a masked ball aboard a Zepplin are sold for charity.

Brumettes have the brank in the favored group. They are Italian with playing, and the lead feature, "Stepping Out" (as "The Fisherman's Girl"); Marie Valli of "Fifty Million Frenchmen" and "You with the Show" (as "Confusion").

The single red-head is Doris McMahon, as "Water." Miss McMahon came from the Ziegfeld Follies, and the talking pictures, "Free and Easy" and "No, No, Nanette."

The blonde section is upheld by Lotus Thompson and Sydney Australia, former Paramount contract player; (as "The Spirit of Innocent Pride"); and Vera Marsh ("The Call of the Wild"); and the "Free and Easy."

The featured players of "Madam Satan" revolving around Bob and Angela Brooks, a wealthy and unhappy young married couple, include Kay Johnson, Reginald Denny, Roland Young and Lillian Roth.

The big "spectacle" is the Zepplin ball, and the following mid-air crack-up of the huge ship. The story is by Jeanie MacPherson, with Gadsby Under-Bliss Janis dialogue. Leroy, Franz, and other unusual ballets, the biggest being "Ballet Mechanique" in which Theodore Kosloff was featured. Eight musical numbers are provided by Herbert Stothart and Clifford Grey, of "The Rogue Song"; Jack King and Miss Janis; "Meet Madam"; "This is Love"; "All I Know is You are in My Arms"; "Each Little Sin" (a comic band is both seen and heard, Paramount News and Cartoon).

County Fair Premiums Up

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — County fairs of Illinois propose to offer $611,449 in premiums this season, an increase of about one-fifth over the amounts they offered in 1929. This information is based on a compilation of reports received by Stuart E. Pierson, director of the State Department of Agriculture, in relation to distribution of state funds for premium reimbursement.

Real Wild Horses Caught For Rodeo

BROKEN HORN, Neb., Nov. 26. — UP — The pick of 500 horses "that really buck" and a carload of steers with horns "just the right length for bull-dogging" will be furnished the Custer county fair and rodeo by J. L. Case, of Sutherland, Neb. The string of bronchos includes several that have never been ridden before, the fair management heard reports.

EPIDEMIC HITS NORTH CHINA PROVINCE

PEIPING, Nov. 24. — UP — The details of a terrible epidemic of bubonic and pneumonic plague, raging in North Shensi province, in an isolated part of the interior of China, have been sent here by Dr. Elmer W. Galt, an American physician, head of a missionary hospital at Panchow, Shansi province.

Dr. Galt received appeals for help from Chinese who told of a disease which was spreading with great rapidity, wiping out entire hamlets, and frightening the people so that they were leaving the district by hundreds. The hospital was understaffed with doctors, so that he could send none, but he did send two trained nurses.

The reports from the hospital, trained investigators indicate beyond any doubt, Dr. Galt declares, that the epidemic is the plague, apparently in both the pneumonic and bubonic forms.

The extreme danger of this epidemic spreading to other regions, perhaps to all of North China, unless something effective is done to stop it, is pointed out by Dr. Galt.

Dr. Galt points out that, according to data gathered by Dr. P. T. Watson and others in past years, the danger of epidemic reaches its height in the fall months, when harvests have been gathered from the fields and rodents have come to the threshing colors and villages with the grain.

At the dawn of that period the theory was born that man could be held accountable in the next world for his behavior in the present world, the professor declared, and it was at this time that the first conceptions of a hell were founded along with the conceptions of a heaven.

Ancients Had No Conscience

NEW YORK, Nov. 26. — UP — Scientific data tending to show that before the year 3000 B. C. the human race had no conscience was guided solely by impulse, was presented here by Prof. James H. Breasted, head of John D. Rockefeller's new archaeological expedition which are tracing civilization from the Black sea to the upper Nile.

Dr. Breasted based his assertions on inscriptions found on Egyptian coffins and ancient writings on papyrus, which clearly indicated, he said, that the human conscience came into being about the year 3000 B. C.

At the dawn of that period the theory was born that man could be held accountable in the next world for his behavior in the present world, the professor declared, and it was at this time that the first conceptions of a hell were founded along with the conceptions of a heaven.

Churches Plan Building Work

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26. — UP — Methodist Episcopal church of the United States would begin immediately a $250,000,000 building program to relieve unemployment if the plan proposed by the Rev. E. M. Conover to the home missions and extension board of the church today was approved.

Rev. Conover, director of the board's bureau of architecture said that the church's 25,347 buildings could be replaced 90 per cent and then new work would still be needed.

Twenty bishops, clergymen, and prominent laymen were attending the board's meetings.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26. — UP — A scientific investigation into the relative capacities of the right and left hands, with a view to solving pressing educational problems, is being conducted in the psychological clinic at the summer school of Temple University, it was disclosed by Dr. Thaddeus L. Bolton, head of the department of psychology at the school.

Al Smith Is Given Honor

DUBLIN, Nov. 26. — UP — The National University today conferred the honorary degree of doctor of laws on Alfred E. Smith, former governor of New York.

The degree also was conferred on Archbishop Downey of Liverpool, Premier J. H. Scullin of Australia and Gen. J. B. M. Hertzoff, premier of South Africa.

There has been a very gratifying improvement in the efficiency of basic and field training, Everson reported. "Attendance at both army and field training camps has increased."

"There is an ever increasing demand for additional National Guard units," Everson said also. "This not only acts as an incentive to existing units to maintain the required standards, but tends to assure them of the support of their communities."

FAMOUS OLD LOCOMOTIVE ABANDONED

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26. — UP — Like a spectre haunting the march of time, the John Lucas, once a bright and shiny monarch of the road that roared its way over the Atlantic Railroad 50 years ago, resting, rust encrusted, in the mud of the tropical jungle of Dutch Guiana.

A tale of the battle out by the old engine against the onward rush and popularity of electricity for railroad use which relegated it to its place in the jungle is told by E. T. Egan, who held the controls on many of the old engine's jaunts, now assistant trainmaster for the Pennsylvania railroad.

Built in 1878
The engine was built in 1878 by the Baldwin Locomotive Works and named after John Lucas, the late train manufacturer and a stockholder in the railroad. A light tank engine it was capable of running either forward or backward and had a cowcatcher and head light on both ends and was the first locomotive to be equipped with air brakes.

Day and night the John Lucas strutted proudly along its 6.74-mile route from Camden, N. J., to Haddonfield, never missing a trip. In 1890 the John Lucas was sold to do the chores of the common herd, in the yard of the Middletown Pa. Iron Works. Still young in years the engine gave its best and tried to prove that the faith it had been entrusted with was well deserved, but it was not enough. Again the monster, electricity, forced the little engine to take a sidetrack.

Taken Off Scrap Pile
Rescued from the scrap pile, the engine stepped out to try its luck in foreign climes when a doctor conceived the idea of introducing American railroad methods into Dutch Guiana. A company was organized and the John Lucas was the first purchase. Down into the wilds it went and everything seemed to be going fine, but business was slow and so was the interest of the stockholders' money. No money means no fuel. So the company was disbanded, the engine left in the jungle grave.

A short time ago, more than 20 years after the burial of John Lucas, a New York architect, Robert Nise Jr., making a tour down the Marconi river in Dutch Guiana, saw a funnel protruding above the trees. Investigation proved that the funnel topped the John Lucas, a tribute to the fact that white man's work is better able to stand the rigors and trials of the wilds than the white man himself.

National Guard Shows Growth In United States

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26. — UP — Gains in enlistment and an increase in efficiency for the National Guard were reported by Secretary of War Hurley today by Maj. Gen. William G. Everson, chief of the war department militia bureau.

Everson said 5727 officers, warrant officers and enlisted men had been added to the Guard during the last fiscal year, ending June 30. 126 commissioned officers resigned during the year, he said. The Guard's strength is now 182,715.

"There has been a very gratifying improvement in the efficiency of basic and field training," Everson reported. "Attendance at both army and field training camps has increased."

"There is an ever increasing demand for additional National Guard units," Everson said also. "This not only acts as an incentive to existing units to maintain the required standards, but tends to assure them of the support of their communities."

Robber Arrested On Check Charges

RENO, Nev., Nov. 26. — UP — Ted Garrett, believed wanted in Los Angeles for the robbery of the Bank of America there on October 29, was arrested in Reno today on a charge of passing bad checks.

Chief of Police J. M. Kirkley stated that he had wired Los Angeles authorities Garrett's Bertillon measurements and other data. Garrett had been under observation here for some time since his free-sending attracted attention.

Pantomime Will Be Presented At U. C. L. A.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26. — A spectacular pantomime, "The Golden Youth," adapted from the poem "Canticle of Paul" by Wilfrid Bryner, will be presented by the art department of the University of California at Los Angeles on December 12 and 13. The adaptation was written by Mr. Louise P. Scoy, chairman of the department, and Miss Virginia Van Norden, a new member of the faculty of the department.

The pantomime is in four scenes, with a spoken prologue and a spoken epilogue. It depicts Paul in quest of worldly experiences. A total of sixty-five students will appear in the production. All the costumes and all of the stage sets are being made by the students, together with those in the home economics department, are designing the costumes, and are actually making them.

HIGH CLUB TO PRESENT PLAY

The International Club will present "Why the Chimney Rings" as its annual Christmas play Dec. 12 in the Richmond Union High school auditorium.

This production was offered by the International club two years ago with success, and the members of the cast have been rehearsing consistently in an effort to make this year's play even more pleasing and entertaining. Besides a large cast, there will be a mixed chorus of 10 students and a professional of 56 girls. The play is being directed by Miss Dorothy Cox, while Mrs. Robert James is directing stage settings. Milton Crabb will act as stage manager, while William McCloskey will serve as electrician.

The members of the cast of the play are:

Holger, peasant boy.....Walter Thomas
Steen, his brother.....Carl Angell
Bertel, their uncle.....Edwin Brooks
An Old Woman.....Barbara Guanzoli
A Rich Man.....Edward Dorr

Germans Appeal In Polish Tilt

BERLIN, Nov. 26.—UP—An appeal to the League of Nations to remove the menace of armed conflict between Germany and Poland over alleged persecution of Germans living in Polish territory was decided upon by the foreign office today.

The decision followed outbreaks over a period of months which reports from Poland over the past week-end indicated, have reached a condition that has caused the German minority groups living in Poland to appeal for help.

Fast British Planes

ENGLAND'S LATEST bomber squadron in formation. They are equipped with Hawker Hart machines. These bombers are considered the fastest two-seater day-bomber planes in the world.

Dog-Gone Dentist

NO LONGER will poor old Fido have to suffer in silence when he has a toothache. Dr. Clyde E. Baschoard, prominent Washington dentist, has opened a special animal clinic.

Richmond Woman Given Position

The position of postmistress and librarian at Avenal, Calif., will be held by Mrs. Marie Eads, former resident of Richmond, who has just been appointed to those positions. Mrs. Eads is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kindstrom of California street.

VET PAYMENT PLAN LAUDED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—UP—The move in the house to help needy veterans by advancing them cash for their adjusted service certificates gained momentum today when Chairman Royal Johnson, South Dakota, of the veterans' committee, announced he is considering a compromise bill for this purpose.

The measure would provide for payment now in cash only to those veterans who are in need, and not to all war veterans, such as is advocated in numerous bills introduced at the last session and now pending.

He voiced his opposition to any plan which would pay adjusted service compensation to all veterans.

"There are many cases that are needy and we should take care of them now," Johnson said. "There is no reason, however, for extending the aid to all veterans because many of them do not need the money."

Under the law enacted by Congress, veterans received adjusted service insurance certificates which are payable in cash in 20 years. Amounts of these certificates range from $51 to $155. It would take between $2,000,000,000 and $3,000,000,000 to pay them now.

China Planning New Calendar

PEIPING, Nov. 26.—UP—M. B. Cotsworth, Canadian member of the League of Nations calendar reform committee, has arrived in China to assist the Chinese in forming a national committee to consider a universal calendar.

Cotsworth has made a life work of his favorite hobby. He became interested in a universal calendar while a young man in Canada, when his work as accountant was made more difficult by the calendar still in use. He has worked ever since for a new calendar. The Fixed Calendar League, now active in many countries, was formed by Cotsworth. One of his early converts was George Eastman of the Eastman Kodak company, who adopted the calendar for his business.

Gigantic Gun Site Will Be Marked Soon

LAON, France.—At a spot not far from here where the famous German "Big Bertha" first opened fire on Paris at 75 miles range, a commemorative tablet has been placed to recall the havoc the huge gun wrought.

The steel monster was dragged into position early in 1918 in a cleverly-concealed emplacement at Crepy, a few kilometers distant from Laon. On March 23, 1918 the first shell went shrieking more than 20 miles up into the air to fall with terrorizing effect upon the French capital.

For four months, intermittently, the 60-foot giant vomited death and destruction. Only the tip of its muzzle protruded above the sheltering trees. So the gun was difficult to locate.

The position was finally found, not by direct observation but by "arm-chair tactics," who worked out the location by calculations based on the time apparently spent by the shells in flight, combined with certain astronomical deductions. Subjected to a fierce counter fire, the gun was moved to be located at Soissons, from which position it was moved and destroyed when the German armies collapsed in 1918.

The Germans were to deliver the documents relating to the gun under the terms of the Versailles Treaty, but the demand never was complied with. Those in the secret pledged themselves to death rather than divulge their knowledge. All research and experiments by the French and other European military authorities failed to produce a monster equaling the German death-killer.

Army Plans To Combat Planes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—UP—Recognizing the changed nature of warfare resulting from the use of airplanes and tanks, the Army infantry during the past year has devoted much time to studies of offensive measures to be used against these instruments.

At the same time, according to the annual report of Maj. Gen. Stephen O. Fuqua, chief of infantry, made public today, the foot soldiers retain their former skill with their traditional weapon, the rifle. The infantry rifle team won over groups from other branches of the Army and Navy at the National Rifle Team Match held at Camp Perry during the year, he pointed out.

Fuqua's report dealt at length with studies now under way to perfect new types of arms for the infantry. A 30 calibre automatic shoulder rifle is one of the most important weapons being developed. Also, the infantry is investigating the utility of the air-cooled calibre .50 machine gun, which the Army hopes to use both as an anti-tank and anti-aircraft gun.

Aviation figures largely in the present tactical research of the infantry.

Ousted Mayor To 'Clean Up Chicago'

DALLAS, Nov. 26.—Mayor J. Waddie Tate of this city would rid Chicago of its gangsters in three weeks time, he declared today.

Tate who calls himself a "rip snortin' son of Texas" said all he would want for the job were 25 average Dallas policemen and a Texas ranger.

Dallas recently voted the city-manager form of government and Tate is as allegedly looking for a job.

DEATH VALLEY ATTRACTS AUTOS

With the approach of the winter season, motorists who fancy the unusual in touring are making their way into the far-flung deserts of the southwest. It is noted by the touring bureau of the California State Automobile association. With highways completely signed and cool nights in prospect, the invasion this season promises to break previous records.

Motor tourists will discover that their needs have been anticipated even in the most remote places. Death Valley, probably aptly named years ago, no longer presents the forbidding aspect that gave it its name. It now boasts of modern hotel accommodations and improved desert type roads through its 175 miles of length and 25 miles width.

Points of historic and scenic interest in the Death Valley region are numerous and considerable time can be spent in seeing them. In the valley proper there are sand dunes, Grotto Canyon, the remains of the Old Harmony Borax mill, Golden Canyon, Mushroom Rock, Pluto salt pools, bad water, salt beds, the remains of the Old Eagle Borax Works, Ashford Mill and Old Confidence Mill. Outside of the valley proper, there are Dante's View in the Black mountains, where at an elevation of approximately 5400 feet a marvelous panorama of Death Valley is obtained: Gower Gulch, Zabriskie Point, Twenty Mule Canyon, Corkscrew canyon, Mt. Blanco, Ryan, Death Valley Junction, Shoshone, Beatty, Rhyolite, the "ghost city," "Death Valley," Scotty's home west of Beatty, and many deserted mining towns.

Two of the principal routes taken by motorists into Death Valley are by way of Bakersfield, Little Lake, Olancha, and Darwin, and by way of Barstow, Daggett, Baker, Silver Lake, Zabriskie Point, Shoshone, and Dante's View or Death Valley Junction.

The Automobile association touring bureau advises motorists who plan to camp not to do so in dry washes, due to the possibility of cloudbursts, and to check up on gas, water, oil, and other necessary supplies in order to avoid any chance of running out between points.

State Wards To Enjoy Real Big Thanksgiving

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 26.—UP—A Thanksgiving dinner for every inmate of California's state mental hospitals, reform schools and other institutions, was promised today by Lyman M. King, director of finance.

More than six tons of turkeys have been bought for Thanksgiving Day, King said, and distributed to the various institutions as follows:

Patton State Hospital, 3500 pounds; Agnew State Hospital, 1500 pounds; Sonoma State Home, 1500 pounds; Veterans Home at Yountville, 1500 pounds; Norwalk Hospital, 1300 pounds; Preston School of Industry, 1200 pounds; Ventura School for Girls, 500 pounds; Berkeley School for Deaf, 300 pounds; Industrial Home for Blind, 150 pounds; Pacific Colony, 120 pounds; School for the Blind, 75 pounds.

The prevailing price paid by the state for turkey was 23 cents per pound, King said.

Other purchases included 25,000 pounds of apples, 5000 pounds of candy, 5000 pounds of walnuts, 3200 pounds of cranberries, 2500 pounds of almonds, and 900 pounds of bananas.

Christmas candy was bought at the same time, 5000 pounds being purchased at 8 cents per pound.

New Evidence May Free Man

LANSING, Mich., Nov. 26.—UP—New evidence may free Lloyd Prevost, 34, who has been in the penitentiary since 1920, serving a life sentence. He was convicted of the murder of J. Stanley Brown, son of a wealthy Detroit manufacturer. Brown's body was found in his automobile near Mt. Clemens.

Richard W. Nebel, state commissioner of pardons and paroles, disclosed the new evidence, which is said to point to Prevost's innocence. New witnesses have been found, Nebel said, and "if their testimony is verified, it will put an entirely different complexion on the case." He refused to disclose the witnesses' names.

Governor Fred W. Green has ordered a complete investigation. Prevost has maintained his innocence throughout.

The motive for the murder of Brown, according to the prosecution—personally headed by Attorney General Alex J. Groesbeck—was love for Mrs. Brown, then a girl of 19, who is now living in Chicago. Brown was notorious as a playboy, and had frequent domestic quarrels with his wife, who was a cousin of Prevost.

Proposed Road

OFFICIAL REPRESENTATIVES of nine Mexican states gathered at the Automobile Club of Southern California for the first International Pacific Highway conference, looking to the speedy building of a highway which will connect Canada the United States, Mexico and South America. ## Co-eds Chosen As Colonels Of R. O. T. C.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26.—Ten senior women students at the University of California at Los Angeles have been chosen as honorary colonels of the reserve officers training corps. The selection was made by the Scabbard and Blade, a student honor organization including only student officers of the training corps, and they declare the young women are the ten most popular in the University.

The girls named include Miss Elizabeth Ashburn, Miss Lucy Guild, Miss Margaret Morris, Miss Helen Mae Skeen, of Los Angeles; Miss Betty Franz and Miss Virginia Lambrecht, of Hollywood; Miss Ruth Irwin, of Lindsay; Miss Thelma Rodgers, of Pasadena; and Miss Charlotte White, of Long Beach.

Hafey Funeral Will Be Held Tomorrow A. M.

Born 72 years ago on a Spanish land grant which has since come to be known as San Pablo, Mrs. Annie Rose Hafey was dead today at her home in Berkeley.

Mrs. Hafey was the sister of Thomas F. Clark and Miss Nellie Clark of San Pablo. Rites will be conducted from Berg's funeral parlors, 1336 University avenue at 9 a. m. tomorrow after which the funeral procession will go to St. Joseph's church for requiem high mass. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Mrs. Hafey was the widow of the late James T. Hafey, brother of Mrs. Arthur Armitage, Mrs. William Strong, Charles, Daniel Thomas, Albert, James and Ambrose Hafey, all of Berkeley, and Mrs. Joseph Barr of Oakland; and sister of Miss Nellie Clark and Thomas F. Clark, of San Pablo.

SUPREME COURT TO HAND DOWN DECISIONS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—UP—The supreme court reconvening after a three weeks' recess next Monday, is expected to hand down several decisions of widespread importance. These will be on cases argued before it during October.

During the hearings just ended the court disposed of about 400 cases. Piled together in a four-week period this gave the impression of unprecedented activity but, in fact, it consisted only of clearing away the summer's filings.

Cases likely to be decided immediately are ones in which the court found matters of constitutional law involved and decided were worthy of argument and probably an opinion.

These include the Southwestern Railroad rate cases in which the Interstate Commerce Commission's division of income from freight jointly hauled with the western trunk lines is attacked.

A decision in the two appeals involving the validity under the anti-trust laws of the motion picture industry's standard form of contract with exhibitors also may reasonably be expected.

Chicago telephone users may eventually have the present rates pared as a result of whatever decision the court makes in a rate case appeal brought by the city of Chicago against the Chicago Bell Telephone company.

Another case involves the right of the government to compel husbands in the states of Arizona, Louisiana and Texas to pay the income tax on all so-called "community" income.

Prison Rioter May Get Freedom

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—UP—An avenue by which Albert Stawley, only survivor of six men convicted for the Folsom Prison riot on Thanksgiving Day, 1927, might possibly escape execution, was opened late today by the state supreme court, although it denied his appeal.

The court pointed out that "should he avail himself" of certain provisions in the state law similar to those under which Warren K. Billings is seeking pardon, he could make a demand of the supreme court, sitting as a fact-finding body, a commutation of sentence.

The Girl Who Is Tired of Staying at Home

ONCE upon a time there was a girl who came to the conclusion that she was missing things—
Missing good times and gaiety, love and romance—
She stood it as long as she could.

Then she wrote this column the letter 'we are printing today' because we believe it summarizes Not only her problem but that of many other girls. "May I unburden myself to you?" begins "Vic." "I have got to the point—
"Where I simply must relieve my feelings.
"The fact is that life is passing me by!
"That may sound awfully melodramatic and all—
"But it is nevertheless true—
"And I am resenting it so—
"Isn't one supposed to be 'brimming over with the joy of living' at nineteen?
"Having gay and carefree times with other young people?
"And, after all, isn't one entitled to all that at nineteen.

"Since Youth passes so quickly?
"Yet, here am I, wasting all these precious moments
"At home in solitude.
"Craving just for the normal pleasures that other girls have—
"And somehow it doesn't seem fair.
"I have visions of myself ten years hence—
"A sour old-maidish person,
"Bitter at the world, and at myself particularly—a horrible picture!
"And I would like to have myself from that now
"While I am still able to 'shoo the blues away'
"And can at least try to feel hopeful.
"Perhaps you can tell me HOW, WHEN and WHERE girls meet other young folk?
"I know you have offered the solution of joining social clubs
"To other girls like myself.
"But I dislike those organizations so intensely.
"They're all so 'clinky' and they make you feel so aware of your aloneness.
"Do I sound terribly dull and self-satisfied?
"I'm not, really.

"Outwardly, I'm quite a normal and a cheerful person.
"Only it's beginning to 'get me'—
"This staying home nights and having to listen to the girls at the office.
"Talk about their beaux, admirers and the good times they have.
"As Andy says, 'What must I do?'
"Could you possibly give me some advice through your column?
"Dear 'Vic'—The advice would give to you and other girls who want to meet their contemporaries
"Is to go ahead and MEET 'em—learn how to 'mix' by 'mixing'.
"Don't miss an opportunity or an invitation.
"In a big place like New York it seems to us that the easiest way for girls to make individual friendships
"And to meet friends—and potential lovers—of the other sex
"Is to join some club or association. To get into some 'clique' and stop worrying about its 'clickiness'.
"In a town like this, with so much to make for social life, loneliness, even friendship and social life have to begin on a basis of organization.
"Through which may come closer and happier individual and made-at-home romances.
"You have to meet people in a group, to do things with them, play about with them.
"Before you discover the few members of the group who are most congenial.
"Furthermore, the way to meet young men is to join some up-and-coming organization for girls.
"Like the local Y. W. C. A., whose hostesses pride over regular 'open house' nights.
"When girls without men friends have been invited to meet them.
"And a pleasant social contact between the sexes.

Is deliberately arranged and encouraged.
It seems to us that such a girl as "Vic" can find the recreation and associations

Which, at nineteen, she is entirely justified in wanting.
If she will go to the Y. W. C. A. nearest her home—
The Bronx, Central, Harlem, International Institute, West Side—
And enroll for the activities there which most appeal to her.
She will have a delightfully wide choice.

There are dancing classes, which include the popular tap dancing.
There are such sports as tennis, badminton, fencing, swimming, gymnasium classes.
There are bridge clubs and musical clubs.

There are dramatic circles which put on most amusing plays.
There are arts and crafts and indeed practically everything which any normal girl likes to do for fun.

If "Vic" or other young woman who doesn't know what to do with herself
Is still doubtful whether she will find at the Y. W. C. A.

The contacts and the recreations for which she is hungry.
Let her remember that at present the "Y" is giving good times
To no less than 230,000 New York girls.

A number which must include about every type of nice girl in existence! It also is a fact, we are told, that the Y. W. C. A. in New York.

Was one of the very first organizations to grasp the simple human truth
That girls like to make friends with boys as well as with other girls.

And that for several years the organization has sponsored Mixed social dancing classes, mixed dramatic clubs, mixed parties.

Where the sexes meet as pleasantly and freely
As in the natural social contacts of home and community life, in smaller places.

Even the newer Y. W. C. A. residences are so arranged
That a boy can call on a girl with a proper privacy for the occasion.

And, as we said, there are the "open house" nights
When lonely girls and boys are invited to meet and made-at-home.

As one young enthusiast wrote us, "Many a girl has found her future husband
"At a Y. W. C. A. dance!"
So here's how the girl tired of staying at home nights
Can begin to crawl out of her shell, even if, at first, she has to force herself to make the effort.

The way to make friends is to show yourself a friendly person—
It's been said a million times, but it's just as true as ever—
You can't expect to be rushed unless you go places and do things
Where there's a pleasant crowd and a chance for friends to find you!

The Beauty Shop

A Comfortable Footing of Prime Importance in the Search for Graceful Posture

By Frances Olivier

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

IT seemed that everything was happening to her face at once. Circles under her eyes, hollows, frown lines, and scowl lines—things that were altogether new to her face. And, humankind, she took her troubles to a beauty specialist.

For a beauty specialist and not merely a person who 'knows only "facials"'.
The "patient" was surprised and not a little disappointed to see the specialist's eyes flit from her face to her figure and then to her feet.

And she was almost hurt when the great beauty authority recommended, instead of a regiment of creams and lotions, the dark circles disappearing, and the scowl lines leaving the forehead, but fresh currents of pep were springing up in her system.
Now by "health shoe" is not meant necessarily a complete farewell to style. It did not in the aforementioned case. This girl we just told you about is a smartly shod person. Modern health footwear is like that! And if you don't believe it just look at a pair!

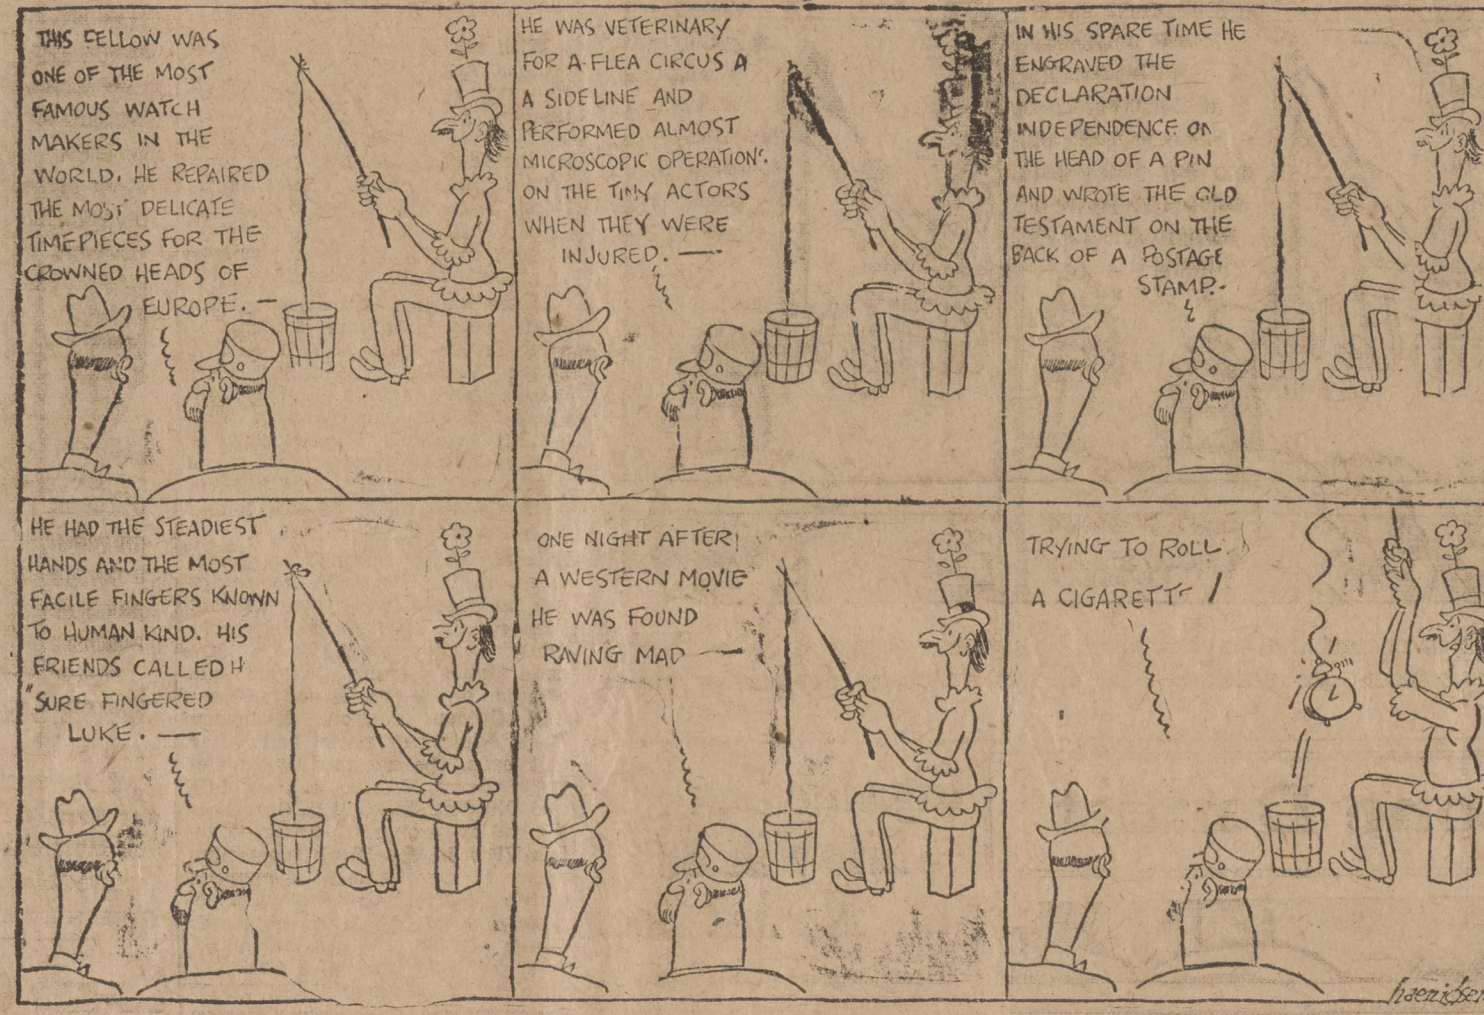

To be sure they aren't fashioned with tall spool heels. But then neither is any really smart pair of walking shoes or everyday shoes. And it is the footwear we choose for walking and office wear and "round-the-house" wear that does the damage to face and posture. Speaking of "round-the-house" footwear, the majority of it is just nobody's business—old unrecognizable things down-at-heel and all out of shape, a strain on the eyes of every beholder and on the body and nerves of the wearer!

You know, there are scores of people who think that the absence of pinching constitutes foot comfort. People like that don't get nearly their money's worth out of a pair of shoes—regardless of how little they may pay for them. A good shoe not only gives the foot breathing room and wicking room, but real support—the kind of support that induces and encourages strong, beautiful arches and a gracefully erect carriage.

Feet and feet are more closely related than most people realize. And foot culture is first cousin to beauty culture and health culture. So look to your feet, be kind to them, don't make them the victims of your "economizing" or a foolish vanity—or your face will show some day the price.

Lamps for Light and Charm

Several Designs That Are Just as Useful as They Are Decorative Effect

A LAMP THAT LENDS CHARM TO A LIVING-ROOM CORNER

THE lighting of a room has so much to do with its comfort—both for the convenience of those who need light for reading, writing or working, and also for the restfulness of the scheme—that the following points on the subject should be kept on hand for constant reference.

Remember that a high light in the middle of the ceiling, unshaded or with a bright white glare, will turn an otherwise human habitation into a cold-looking, barlike room. Just as much useful light may be thrown into the room from mellow, softly shaded lamps and fixtures placed on the reading table, beside the sofa and the writing desk and at other convenient spots. Follows, then, improvement in the dispositions of the family and feminine complexions and gowns are shown to much greater advantage. Of course, it is convenient now and then to snap on the white ceiling light when one wants about for the thumb that grandmother dropped or the moth that mother must chase. But snap it right off again. There are all sorts of interesting table lamps to do duty and add beauty to the general scheme of the room, among them the pudgy good-natured modern pottery lamp and its near relations of the type shown in the accompanying photograph. What an interesting light for the gabbie table beside father's big comfortable armchair!

But we are not so dependent on the hollow vase-like lamp as we once were, since electric lighting has taken away the need for oil containers. Designers, strangely enough, seem to be just awakening to that fact and are turning their only eye to the creation of many graceful and unusual things in metal. There is, for instance, the lamp of the three sea gulls, bringing us three gulls, wing tip to wing tip, soaring above what seems to be a calm sea. It is especially lovely when placed before a mirror so that the reflection can serve to double the beauty of the flight. There are also lamps made with one, two and four gulls, and a floor lamp in which one sea gull, caught in the act of rising from the sea, supports the standard of the lamp, while another sea gull in a down-swooping pose supports the shade on one outstretched wing.

Another lovely lamp in metal shows beautiful wild cattails and grasses growing beneath a shade of sky and flying geese. Practically all these lamps can be obtained in brass finish, polished brass, verdigris, dull silver, polished silver, dull or polished bronze. And they are not too expensive.

For those who play bridge and have a time getting enough light on the table there is also a new illuminating device. It consists of twin bridge lamps made of metal which clamp to two opposite legs of the bridge table. The lamps reach up two adjustable arms which have the bulbs, properly shaded, poised over the table. Practically all these lamps can be obtained in brass finish, polished brass, verdigris, dull silver, polished silver, dull or polished bronze. And they are not too expensive.

The Proper Care of Your Silver

DOES your silver wrapped in its flannel bags or rolls tarnish after a time when not in use? The difficulty probably is with the bags. In such cotton fabrics of which these bags are made there are as many poor qualities as good. Some flannels absorb moisture, causing the flannel to tarnish.

Many people possessing sterling take the pieces out of the bags but seldom. Naturally one believes that a flannel bag is adequate protection to prevent tarnish. Sometimes, however, the dyes and peculiar sulphuric effects that appear in the fabric act against the silver with the result that it becomes stained.

If this is true in your case, get some new and good bags or else expect to polish the silver every time it is used. Silver should be used often because it needs the light.

The patent polish cloths on the market do not give as nice a polish

Modern and Most Pleasing

Prints, Objects of Art, Screens and Picture Frames That Tempt the Taste

LEFT TIME approaches—and what to get for the home-loving person that one has not given to him or to her heretofore?

Provided either has modern inclinations, there are endless new and intriguing things to be thought of, among them such useful and decorative pieces as the little modern bookshelf, the small screen, the smart modern screen behind it, or one or more sophisticated bits of modern porcelain to be used on the mantel, cabinet or chest.

In the class come also fascinating tables of modern metal, bakelite and glass, with accessories to be used upon them. And there is an awakened interest in pictures and mirrors that are suitable for modern as well as conventional schemes.

Besides the usual thing in that group we see many few kinds of prints and other wall decorations. There are the gayest wood blocks, for instance, with tinted mats, sentimental little silhouettes framed in black or red or green, and smart French prints which one shop is framing without glass, mounting the print upon a stiff mat bound about with a narrow wooden band and shellacking the whole surface in a soft color harmonizing with some prominent tone found in the print. These are delightful, somewhat antique in appearance, while at the same time having a nice suggestion of newness.

A few very effective prints to be seen are those framed with a mat of mirror glass mitered at the corners and finished with a beaded molding of antique gilt. Others—highly colored decorative prints—are framed upon mats of brilliant red or gold or green, with a narrow black molding, or upon black mats bound with a molding in vivid color. These newer treatments give pictures not only a festive and girlish appearance but add a flavor of difference—a modern touch that is most refreshing.

An almost universal interest in homefurnishing is focusing attention on pictures and other objects of art as the key to color harmonies in rooms, of the much-needed accent for schemes already established.

Thus gifts that fall into this class have a new and greater meaning. They are not only doubly welcome to the receiver, but the giver is also mindful of the importance of his gift and is more careful than ever to see that it will be in fine keeping with the room it is to occupy.

THESE PIECES SUGGEST APPROPRIATE GIFTS FOR THE HOME LOVER

Let Baby Help Himself

OF course, your baby has a habit of throwing his toys on the floor or ground and seems to take delight in this pastime—they all

Probably you always pick up the toy and return it to him. It would be better to teach the toy by a string to the chair, perambulator, crib or wherever he may be playing. Then show him how to pull the toy back when it lands on the floor. Insist upon his doing this himself. This will teach him self-reliance and nips in the bud that bad habit of expecting others to wait upon him.

Where he sits on the floor and toys are scattered beyond his reach do not get them for him. Urge him to go and get the one he wants. Assist him in creeping to where he can reach the desired article. It will require only a few lessons to teach him how to do this, but under no circumstances give him the toy—make him get it or do without it.

Do it all real pleasantly and he will think it is a game and will cheerfully fall into your plan.

Handy Pillows
ONE young woman has a supply of over seven pillows on her couch. They are most convenient in her small apartment.

Guests invariably sit upon the couch. They use a pillow to prop the back, and these large sized ones keep the heads from touching the wall and leaving marks.

When the entertainers are very convenient as floor cushions when all available seats are occupied. These pillows are ideal for the small apartment.

You and Your Child

"T HAT teacher's always picking on Jimmy," says a belligerent tone. Jimmy listens with an aggrieved air.

Does criticism of their teachers and their schools help our children to do better work or to adjust themselves better? I think not. We ought always stand back of our child's teacher and his school. A youngster will make little effort to please a teacher for whom his mother shows scant respect. When we feel that a teacher is unfair or prejudiced, we ought to go to see her, and open-mindedly thrash the matter out with her. Often, we have to explain her attitude to the child. And, at times, when we think she has made a mistake, we can acknowledge it, teaching the children tolerance. However, by saying, "If mother loses her patience sometimes with only three children, how can you blame Miss S. if she loses hers with forty?" or "I think your teacher has made a mistake, but everyone in the world makes mistakes sometimes."

At times, a child finds great difficulty in adjusting himself to a new teacher. With our encouragement, he will usually get used to this teacher after a while, and in time, he will probably learn to love her dearly. In a grade school, however, there is a deep-seated antagonism between a child and his teacher. This is a very unhealthy situation, and whenever possible, the child should be transferred to another class. If this is absolutely out of the question, we shall have to help him all we can, to do the best he is capable of, under the circumstances.

Although we should always stand back of a teacher and the school, we should never be unfair to the children. When a note comes from school saying that Bobby is inattentive, he needs disciplining, or when Mary brings home a poor report card, we should never act hastily, without a thorough investigation. Bobby may be too playful and Mary may be lazy, but then again, the fault may not be theirs at all. With the help of the teacher and the school, we should try to ferret out the reason for our child's failure. The youngster may not be in good health, he may be suffering from some emotional disturbance, or he may not be in the right grade in school.

At all events, let us never punish, scold or ridicule before ascertaining all the facts in the case, and let us never add to our children's difficulties by criticizing their teachers in their presence.

(With considerable forethought and malice toward none, we have secured the services of J. Herman Selditz to explain inside football and trick plays to our paid-up subscribers. Mr. Selditz is an old-time player and coach. After graduating from the McCooly School for the Feeble Minded, with a degree of magna dumble laude, he became head coach of Ottumwa College. The first year under his tutelage Ottumwa defeated Vassar, Wellesley and Bryn Mawr and tied Kansas City Kindergarten. The committee on rivers and harbors declared them champions of the Mississippi Valley. Of the men who played for Ottumwa that season, an even dozen were named for the All-American eleven. Coach Selditz was given a mythical purse of gold and was signed up for an imaginary ten years more. At the expiration of that time William and Mary offered him a contract, but he refused to consider it unless both William and Mary affixed their last names. Thereupon he took charge of the Yale team with such success that several motor companies used him as a model for their coach. In today's article Mr. Selditz describes more trick plays.)

THE INSIDE OF FOOTBALL

By J. Herman Selditz

WHEN I was playing half back for Ottumwa, all the rival coaches feared my strategy. Back in the fall of 1907 Ottumwa had renewed its lease on my services. This new contract provided that as long as I played on the team, I should room and board at the president's house, with first call on the bathtub and the morning paper. Everything in Prexy's house I was entitled to use, except he asked me to furnish my own toothbrush.

I looked forward to a successful season. I reported at Ottumwa that fall. The president escorted me to his home and showed me to my quarters. I had a nice front room all to myself, equipped with twin beds. I promptly protested at this.

"I am very sorry about those twin beds," said President Oke, "and I realize there is one more than you need."

"One more, hell!" I shouted politely. "There is one too few. I am a triple threat man and I demand triple beds."

That evening the president slept in a hammock.

Well, finally we came to the Ottumwa-Chippmunk game. This was always a golden classic as Ottumwa and Chippmunk were only 400 miles apart, which was no distance at all to the boys who owned airplanes. Chippmunk had a very strong team that season as they had scheduled a succession of tough open dates and had not been scored on in one of these.

On the other hand, Ottumwa had not been very impressive up to then. We had been beaten by the Army, the Navy, the R. O. T. C. eleven and the Red Cross Nurses' team. But we had played a scoreless tie with the

REPORT MADE ON SILVER DECLINE

PEIPING, Nov. 26.—UP—Dr. Franklin Ho, China's leading statistician, offers encouraging information for merchants engaged in trade with China, from a study of silver prices during the past century, as compared with commodity prices during the same period.

Dr. Ho has discovered that the decline in silver prices, while serious enough, is not so disastrous upon trade as is believed, because silver prices do not reveal the actual purchasing power of the metal.

Parity of Silver

He has worked out a method for discovering the actual purchasing power parity of silver, which is more important from the trader's point of view than the price of the metal. He has fixed an index of purchasing power by comparing the index of wholesale prices in England which correspond roughly with those in China.

The relationship between these indices is obtained in the form of percentage. In July, 1930, for example, the index number of silver price was 55 (as compared with 100 for 1926), and the index number of commodity prices was 76. Expressed in percentages, therefore, 72 indicates the actual purchasing power.

Dr. Ho points out that the price of silver is not a genuine measure of the fluctuation of the silver market, and in some years is entirely deceptive.

Long Period Covered

Dr. Ho's charts, covering the period from 1833 to July, 1930, reveal that the fluctuations in the purchasing power of silver are very great, with consequent disruption of Chinese trade. The value of silver purchasing power has declined more or less steadily since 1851.

The year 1896 was the last in which the dollar exceeds 200 in purchasing power, and in 1915, the purchasing power dropped below a dollar to 97 cents for the first time. Although the actual price of silver almost tripled between 1915 and 1920, its purchasing power rose only from 97 cents to $1.21. It dropped below a dollar again in 1927, and has remained below since.

Charges Dropped Against Woman

SANTA ROSA, Nov. 26.—UP—Charges against Mrs. Charlotte Hindley, 21, pretty Eureka divorcee, may be dropped this week, according to Carl Barnard, county district attorney.

Mrs. Hindley faced charges of assault with a deadly weapon following her shooting of Richard Proctor, San Francisco magazine solicitor, when he allegedly attempted to attack her while driving to San Francisco from Eureka recently.

Mrs. Hindley, freed on bail, is at present at the home of her mother at Eureka.

Proctor, discharged today from Wheeler sanitarium, Cloverdale, where he was taken after the shooting, was driven to San Francisco by his wife.

The article is written by Dr. Llewellyn M. Buell, executive secretary of the university, and lecturer in English.

Dr. Buell opens his article with a brief history of the University of California, telling of its founding in Berkeley. The establishment of a second complete university at Los Angeles is explained by him as due to the huge population center in and around Los Angeles, approximately 500 miles away from the university at Berkeley. He tells of the growth of the institution in Los Angeles, and of the installation of the Los Angeles section of Phi Beta Kappa last spring.

HOOVER READY WITH CONGRESS MESSAGE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—UP—President Hoover has virtually concluded the message he will send to congress Dec. 2 on the state of the union. In it the president stressed above all other governmental problems, the need for unemployment relief legislation, the United Press was informed today.

Hoover is prepared to recommend enactment of specific relief measures before the old congress is disbanded under the constitution March 4. Included among his recommendations, according to high authorities are:

1—Increase of the government outlay for public buildings and good roads to the limit of the treasury's ability to pay.

2—Speeding up of the dual building program to make more funds immediately available for winter employment.

3—Amendments of the Immigration act to provide greater selectivity and flexibility in choosing immigrants, but not a total suspension of immigration for two years, as some senators have proposed.

Prohibition Views Delayed
The message does not deal with the prohibition question; it is said. Hoover's views upon that subject will be reserved for a later date, when he will submit to congress the report of the Wickersham crime commission. This report is expected before the Christmas holidays, according to responsible authorities.

A good portion of the document is being devoted to the fiscal condition of the government. The president is understood to have taken a position along the line of a national congressional leaders who are opposed to continuance of the 1 per cent tax reduction.

The situation created by deficiencies in government revenue at a time when more money is being spent to relieve unemployment is being outlined also in the usual budget message.

Move to Mollify Progressives

Chairman Fess of the Republican national committee joined other party leaders in the movement to mollify progressive Republican insurgents during the short session by relaxing opposition to their program in the house.

Speaker Longworth and majority leader Tilson remain to be heard from on the proposal of chairman Snell of the house rules committee that pending controversial legislation be brought to a decisive vote this winter.

Fess said he would not interrupt Snell's offer to bring such measures as the Muscle Shoals bill, the lame duck resolution and others of progressive origin to vote.

Farm Policy Indorsed

Chairman McNary of the senate agricultural committee has succeeded in getting leaders of the three large farmers' organizations to endorse farm board policies and oppose the export debenture and other farm relief of that type at the short session.

The farm relief truce is to last until December, 1931, when the new congress meets in regular session. Agreement of leaders of farm organizations to this program in their two-day conference ended Tuesday means they will not support any effort toward a special session next spring.

JOBLESS PLIGHT TOLD IN U. S. REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—UP—From out of the mass of data assembled in the files of the emergency work bureau there stepped today a composite man who stands as a symbol for the 4,000,000 unemployed in this country.

He is a product of the law of averages, and information which will be presented here about his family, his wardrobe and his business ability represents findings based on the 11,000 records in the bureau's files. These individual case histories have been averaged by officials of the bureau, and they offer the following characteristics as typical.

The man is 40 years old. He has a wife and two children, and lives in an apartment which he leases by the year. Two years ago he was making $37.50 a week as clerk in the accounting department of a middle-sized manufacturing concern. His suit is neatly pressed, but he bought it fourteen months ago for $32.50 at a sale.

Year Without Work

The third week in November of 1929 he lost his job after getting two weeks' notice. He has not worked since, and the $1413 that he had in a savings bank gave out on September 23 of this year. In the middle of the summer he moved with his family to two furnished rooms, where the rent was less than it had been in his apartment. He gets up at 6:30 a. m. to be the first in line at the employment agencies.

He hides the gravity of his financial condition from his friends, and believes things will be better soon. With the approach of winter, however, he has begun to pose as a common laborer, because he believes his chances are better at getting that type of job than they are of finding a so-called white collar position.

The bureau emphasizes that this composite man is not a product of their imagination—the picture of him as accurate as statistics, averages and the laws of mathematics can make it.

Morale Excellent

William H. Matthews, an official of the emergency work bureau, has confidence in this man. He declares the individual's morale has undergone heavy hammering, but is still intact.

"So far," Matthews said, "the spirit of the unemployed is excellent. The morale is not smashed, but there is danger that it will be unless work is found soon. These men do not want charity, and that is why they come to us, for our organization deals in jobs, not doles."

Other officials related examples to prove that the mass morale in the country was still high. They told of an aged man who earned $12 a month, got his room and board free, and donated $2 toward helping others find jobs. They told of a man who rushed into the bureau one morning, dropped a $10 bill on the counter and fled without giving his name.

Plight Outline

Of a man who had been out of work for two years, living on his slender savings and donating $2 to the bureau; of an investment banker who educated his two sons at Yale, lost all of his money, and now is working for $15 a week, refusing to inform his sons of his plight.

Miss Frances Trausig of the Jewish Social Service Association also brought out the result of a survey she made concerning the psychology of the unemployed man. She attempted to trace the changes in his mental attitude, first, on losing his job, on failing to find another position in a similar line of work, and finally, in failing to find any kind of job.

"After being idle for two weeks a man attempts to put on a front to his friends that his condition is all right, and that he is considering several jobs; at the end of two weeks he is shunning his friends, most helpful in helping him find the very persons who would be of work; after three months he shuns his family as much as possible, and his state of mind becomes increasingly grave."

Aviation Shows Big Growth In America

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—UP—A vivid description of the growth of American commercial aviation in the past year and a resultant increase in safety was contained tonight in the annual report of Assistant Commerce Secretary for Aeronautics Clarence M. Young.

Scheduled air transport operators flew 25,141,499 miles in 1929, the report disclosed. They carried 173,495 passengers, 1,860,879 pounds of express and 7,772,104 pounds of mail. For carrying the mail alone, they received $17,042,520.71.

There was only one fatal accident on scheduled air transport systems in 1929 to every 2,055,048 miles flown.

The record for all services was one fatal accident to every 873,897 miles. These figures compared with 1,791,042 miles flown by scheduled operators per fatal accident and 556,781 miles for all services in 1928.

Increased Safety

Figures recently released for the first six months of 1930 showed an amazing increase in safety of scheduled airline planes, only the fatal crash occurring for nearly 3,000,000 miles flown.

Total miles flown last year, including both scheduled and private operations of aircraft, was 135,141,499, more than twice that in the preceding year—60,673,440.

Although progress in the manufacture and sale of aircraft for miscellaneous use failed to continue so rapidly in the last six or eight months of the fiscal year ended June 30, 1930, as during the first part of the year, the report did not regard this as being necessarily discouraging. Unofficially the economic depression has been blamed for the smaller airplane sales.

The airways development program of the Commercial Department's Aeronautics branch made great strides in the past fiscal year. More than 3,000 miles of airways were lighted; 56 intermediate landing fields established and lighted and 218 revolving beacons installed.

Weather Information

Automatic tele-type circuits were installed on 5,650 miles of airways for weather information, while 13 radio broadcasting stations were set up to broadcast weather conditions to fliers at regular intervals, night and day.

On June 30, 1930, 15,000 miles of lighted airways were in operation, with 319 intermediate fields, 1,477 airway beacons, 303 airway weather-reporting stations, 35 radio stations, and nine radio range beacons in service.

Upon the completion of its tele-type and radio installation program, the aeronautics branch will have covered virtually every square mile in the United States where flying is a regular activity with a weather reporting service.

During the year 612 violations of the air commerce regulations were investigated resulting in 183 assessments of civil penalties, 164 suspensions, 22 revocations of licenses, 7 denials of licenses, 184

GRANGE WILL SUPPORT BOARD

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—UP—The administration today apparently had won support of farm organizations in its effort to prevent tampering with federal farm board, pending another year's trial of Chairman Alexander Legge's program to relieve agricultural distress.

After appearing today before the farm conference called by Chairman McNary of the senate agricultural committee, L. J. Taber, master of the National Grange, which is the chief farm exponent of the export debenture, pledged full support to the farm board and said his organization would oppose amendment of the agricultural marketing act at the coming sessions of congress.

Others Give Support

Chester Gray and S. H. Thompson of the American farm bureau expressed similar opinions. Gray added he believed the logical time to amend the act under which the farm board operates would be a year from December, when the seventy-second congress will meet in its first regular session.

The only possibility of serious opposition now appears to lie in the farmers union. C. F. Huff, who recently was defeated for president of that organization, was believed to be preparing to support the administration, but there may be opposition from his organization, which when last polled gave evidence of some anti-farm board convictions.

Chairman McNary said Taber urged nothing be done at this time with the farm marketing act and the senator expressed the opinion Taber's statement "probably will fall into" repose any efforts to amend it with the debenture plan."

Proposes 9 Projects

Taber issued a statement proposing nine projects to improve agricultural conditions and said four of them might be acted upon this winter. The four:

1—Full support for the farm board and opposition to amendments at this session. Taber would recommend congress immediately provide Legge with the balance of the $500,000,000 authorization originally fixed for the board.

2—Prevention of short selling by foreign governments or foreign individuals on the Chicago board of trade and prevention of all short sales except hedging.

3—Withholding irrigation, reclamation and drainage projects until farm surpluses are removed.

4—Amendment of the federal farm loan act, primarily to make disposition of real estate easier.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

OAKLAND, Nov. 26.—A wedding license was issued here today to Eugene H. Ball Jr., of this city and Miss Laurette Y. Champagne, of 5699 Tehama avenue, Richmond. Ball gave his age as 25 while Miss Champagne's age was given as 18.
